The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-9,12,13,16 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the acknowledged prior art in view of Horiuchi et al.

The Applicant has described a plurality of submarine cable transmission paths extending from a plurality of land-based terminal stations being connected with each other to form the submarine branching apparatus of the Applicant's prior art discussion starting on page 1, line 23, and concluding at line 27 of page 6. The device of the Applicants prior art admissions sends control signals over optical fibers connected between land-based terminals and a submarine branching circuit as shown in Applicants prior art figure 11. The Applicants prior art discussion addresses the different modes of system operation in response to detected faults that are set forth in the above mentioned claims.

The device of the Applicants prior art admissions differs from the claims by not superimposing optical control signals on the same fiber as the communication signals as part of the branching apparatus control arrangement. Horiuchi teaches a control signal superimposer for use with a submarine cable optical fiber arrangement.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine the teachings of Horiuchi into the device of the Applicants prior art, because both teachings relate to the use of control signals sent via optical fibers to operate submarine cable devices, with Horiuchi teaching a method of increasing the utility of the optical cable by mixing signals into a single fiber.

Claims 10,11,14,15, and 17-19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The above mentioned claims include details of device operation that are not addressed by the Applicants admissions or the prior art of record.
